LABEL A. KATZ
PRESIDENT SUPREME LODGE
B'NAI B'RITH

Label A. Katz, President of the Supreme Lodge of B'nai B'rith, is a native of New Orleans. At 44 he is the youngest chief executive in the 119-year history of B'nai B'rith.

Mr. Katz has been active in Jewish community affairs since his affiliation with the B.B. youth movement at the age of 15. Subsequently he held various positions in the B.B. organization until his election in 1959 as the order's 14th President for a three-year term, being re-elected last year to a second term.

In the past four years Mr. Katz has travelled to the six continents in behalf of Jewish causes and has logged more than 250,000 miles in his travels. He is the first International President of B.B. ever to visit Edmonton and Western Canada.

Message from the President . . .

The entire Jewish Community of the City of Edmonton and in particular, members of B'nai B'rith, are deeply appreciative that Supreme Lodge President, Label A. Katz is present with us to celebrate our 50th anniversary.

B'nai B'rith Lodge No. 732 has established a most enviable record of service to the Community of Edmonton over the past 50 years. The very nature of the aims, principles and purposes of B'nai B'rith are such that the Lodge has assumed the leadership in the Community and has produced through its ranks many of the leaders in all of the Community organizations.

We in B'nai B'rith are fully aware of the wonderful record of service and it is our desire that B'nai B'rith Lodge No. 732 will continue to serve the Community according to the principles of our Order: Benevolence, Harmony and Brotherly love.

MORRIS LYONS, President
LODGE NO. 732, B'NAI B'RITH

Message from District Grand Lodge No. 6 . . .

Fifty years ago — in 1913 — a handful of men, in a very small Jewish Community applied for a charter and became the first B'nai B'rith Lodge in Western Canada.

The aim and purpose of Lodge No. 732 at that time was unification of Jewish families in a new land, regardless of wealth, social status or country of origin. They helped the needy and sick, organized the community and filled a vital role in the spirit of benevolence, brotherly love and harmony.

As the needs of the community grew the officers and members of "732" met these needs and provided manpower and leadership for every new organization as it was formed.

To help celebrate 50 years of service Lodge No. 732 is honored by a visit from the International President, Label A. Katz. Never before has there been such an honor bestowed upon our lodge.

I am especially happy that in this anniversary year I am the representative to the District Board of Governors and in that capacity I bring to Lodge No. 732 greetings and best wishes from District No. 6 and the hope for continued success in all activities.

Jacob A. Baltzan — Pioneer Educator ...

by Bruce E. Mintz

If we were to ask the name of one great pioneer of the Edmonton Jewish Community, the reply would be — the late Jacob A. Baltzan — founder, leader and devoted worker. He made many important contributions toward this community's development. Today we see the results of his unselfish work in the foundations of Jewish communal life — the Talmud Torah and the Synagogues. Through these legacies to our community, Jacob Baltzan is one man who will never be forgotten.

To understand the reasons for this devotion to Jewish life, we should trace his personal history. Born in Leova, Bessarabia, in 1873, he was the youngest in a family of six children. In loving his brothers and sisters, Mr. Baltzan learned devotion both to children and his fellow man in later life. Because of his very fine Hebrew education in an orthodox and Zionist setting, Jacob Baltzan realized that other Jews should have an opportunity to share in this rich cultural background. As we shall soon see, it was this concept that inspired him to be community-minded.

After serving in the Czar's army, Mr. Baltzan fled from the Russian wars of 1904 to New York. He brought with him, his wife, Nina Hercovitz of Gechenst, Bessarabia, and several of his family. Dissatisfied with the restricted life of populous New York City, Mr. Baltzan decided to seek his fortunes elsewhere.

Having a brother in Lipton, Saskatchewan, Mr. Baltzan decided to visit him. Intrigued by the challenge of pioneer life, he joined this colony of new immigrant Jews and homesteaded there from 1905 to 1908. Because of illness and crop failures, Mr. Baltzan and his family moved to Govan, Saskatchewan. There he operated a general store and participated in civic affairs. He was dissatisfied with the limited facilities for medical care and educational opportunity for his family. Thus he sought a new home. Fortunately, he selected the newly incorporated city of Edmonton, Alberta. Although Edmonton, then, boasted three small newspapers, unpaved streets, frame and log houses, it still provided a "Cheder" and Synagogue to fulfill his immediate needs.

Two days before his birthday, May 16th, 1911, Mr. Jacob Baltzan and his family took up residence in Edmonton where he spent the rest of his life as one of the early citizens of the Jewish community. It is at this point that the story of this great pioneer really begins.

Within one year, the presence of the Baltzan family was felt by the Edmonton Jewish Community. Mr. Baltzan took up partnership of a furniture store on 101st Street and Jasper with Mr. M. Lurie. The Baltzan's "open house", a focal point of the Jewish Community, was built on Boyle Street (103rd Avenue and 95th Street). This Jewish home warmly welcomed travellers, merchants and rabbis who passed through Edmonton. At almost every supper meal, the Baltzan family plus a "bissel more" (a few more) ate together. Almost every evening the "Baltzan Hotel" housed a visitor.

Jacob Baltzan's communal love was boundless. He noticed the shocking state of the Jewish cemetery and felt that it was his duty to remedy it. He introduced modern methods of burial which led to the establishment of the Chevra Kadisha in 1913. To this day, Chevra Kadisha, a volunteer organization, has been carrying on the traditions set by this man of vision.

Improving Jewish education for the local children was a constant concern to Jacob Baltzan. He devoted his energies toward the Edmonton Hebrew Free School, with a firm belief in an integrated system of Hebrew education. When he came to Edmonton, he found a small Cheder in the basement of the 95th Street Beth Israel Synagogue. Lending his leadership to a small courageous group, he began the task of building this institution as a monument of Jewish growth and education. As chairman of the Board of Education, his first step was to initiate a curriculum. Mr. Baltzan envisioned a Hebrew Day School as the best means of perpetuating a culture and learning. His dream became a reality with the founding of the Edmonton Talmud Torah Day School in 1926. Until 1952, when a new Talmud Torah was built, the Day School was situated on 103rd Street. As a further contribution to our community, Mr. Baltzan's son Hy, gave leadership in building the new school that presently stands on 106th Avenue and 132nd Street. This was the first Hebrew Day School in Canada. Aware of the need for raising the educational standards in Western Canada, Jacob Baltzan helped convene the first of Hebrew educators in 1937 in Saskatoon.

Other communal affairs involved Mr. Baltzan. During World War I, he promoted the United War Effort in this Community. In 1913, he was one of the charter members of B'nai B'rith Lodge No. 732 and during the 1920's served as Gabbai of the Beth Israel Synagogue. Also, he established the Hebrew Loan Association in 1927, and participated in Zionist campaigns. In contributing to all phases of community life on such a high level, Mr. Baltzan revealed his characteristics as patriot, religious man, humanitarian, and philanthropist.

Jacob Baltzan was not a man of great wealth but left a rich legacy to his family and through them, to the community. The respect of his children who still speak of him as "poppa" is indicative of the warm and loving home that he fostered. Jacob Baltzan could not have accomplished all of these things without the help of his gracious wife, Nina, who shared in partnership with him, his trials and triumphs. She still resides in Edmonton, the Matriarch of a family who carries on with reverence the traditions set by Jacob Baltzan.

Jacob A. Baltzan was a remarkable man. In his lifetime, he showed the human attributes of kindness, generosity and dedication. This humble man was never critical of others and his sense of humor was pleasant. When he died in 1939, Edmonton's Jewish Community suffered an irreparable loss. The cornerstone of the Talmud Torah

School was placed as a tribute to Mr. Baltzan so that his memory might be perpetuated.

Today the younger generation may not see the face of Jacob A. Baltzan but in Jewish educational systems, the youth of Edmonton can see the fruits of his labours.

The following names of trustees, benefactors and friends have made generous contributions to B'nai B'rith in honor of the 50th Anniversary of Lodge No. 732. These funds will be used for B'nai B'rith Youth services work.
